The Economic Alliance Bank provides internet enabled financial services to include products and services specially designed for members of the Economic Alliance of Doctors, Economic Alliance of Business Executives, Permanent Endowment Association of America and The Economic Alliance of Associations.

In association with The Economic Alliance of Associations, the Economic Alliance Bank offers an added benefit of highly specialized customer service based on findings of the 36-year Economic Research Project©. The Economic Alliance Bank is an innovator in traditional and non-traditional banking concepts designed to multiply our clients' wealth and endowment accumulations.

Our Mission Statement

The Economic Alliance Bank is committed to providing web access to the financial products and services needed that are needed by productive business owner/executives and doctors and by non-profit organizations to facilitate the "Economic Endowment of Everything that Matters." While dedicated to offering a wide range of Financial Services, our banking products are specially designed based on the 36-year Economic Research Project and intended for delivery expressly via the Internet.

Why should I open an account with Economic Alliance Bank?

The Economic Alliance Bank will enable you to efficiently control and manage your employer cash management and personal cash management accounts from your computer, at anytime, and from anywhere. Our customers can take advantage of many internet banking conveniences, including an account summary list, scheduled transfers between accounts, up-to-the-minute balance information or transaction details. Internet services include the capability of paying or receiving your bills online using the Bill Payment and Presentment feature. With the availability of 24 hour monitoring, customers can control when and how they utilize the bank. Because there are no physical offices, bank resources can be allocated to providing outstanding customer service. State-of-the-art computer systems allow our customer service representatives to instantly call up an account, detailing all activity. Bank customer service representatives are trained to evaluate any problems that might occur quickly and solve them expeditiously. This eliminates time expenditures and ensures maximum control over your finances.

Is my Economic Alliance Bank account information secure?

Yes. The Economic Alliance Bank internet site utilizes a state-of-the-art security technology, the 100 carrier method that is also known as "RSA public-key cryptography". This information encryption system is also used by governmental agencies to insure security of data. Bank clients' account information resides in encrypted form in the The Bancorp Bank's high-security data warehouse. The Economic Alliance Bank does not share non-public information about our customers with any third parties other than The Economic Alliance of Associations and its affiliates, pursuant to a joint marketing agreement and as disclosed in our privacy statement which require that customer information be kept confidential.
